

WE specialize in collaborative community HEALTH approaches.

CAPABILITY STATEMENT

BUSINESS SUMMARY

Founded in 2012, Community Health Cooperative assists organizations with program design, implementation, evaluation, and other activities associated with community-based health programming. Our staff has expertise in working with a variety of organizations, including community-based, non-profit, and philanthropic organizations, government agencies, academic institutions/affiliates, and corporations. Our work is founded in the principles of community-based participatory research and facilitative leadership, and we use evidence-based strategies to guide every step of our process.

SERVICES

- Health program design, implementation, and evaluation
- Pipeline and leadership development programs
- Health program management and operations support
- Health meeting content and project management
- Support for institutional review board (IRB) applications and associated documents
- Health communications
- Health curriculum design

EXPERTISE

- Using community and/or organizational data to direct health programming priorities
- Working with vulnerable and underserved populations
- Programming related to the social determinants of health
- Disaster response programming
- Cultural competence programming
- Developing content for health promotion, education, and outreach materials (i.e. video manuscripts, online content, pamphlets, brochures)
- Developing content targeted at lay communities, community health workers, employees, students, and resident physicians
- Building community-based research infrastructure and capacity
- Data safety monitoring (board development, review procedures, etc.)

PARTIAL LIST OF CLIENTS

Atlanta Women's Foundation

Health Connect South

National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) - Community Health Cooperative and Nexus Research Group